

New Register Press Started

MRS. DAISY M. SERIGHT, President of the Register Publishing Co., is shown at the control of the Daily Register's new tubular printing press when it was placed in operation Tuesday. The new press will print twice as many pages as the flat-bed press which has been used since 1940, and will print at four times the speed. Installation of the press climaxes a long-range program of improvements in The Daily Register's physical plant. A new addition was built in 1951-52 and considerable new machinery was purchased. The tubular press was brought here from Boulder, Colorado. It prints from stereotype plates made from full page mats rolled from type forms.

THE OLD FLAT BED, Model "E" Duplex press, in The Register plant since 1940, has been sold to a religious publication house in Chicago, and will be moved out soon.

A REAL OLDIE. This Goss Comet press was the first flat-bed press used by The Register. It was installed about 1920 when The Register plant was in the basement quarters of the Rose building, now occupied by the Illinois Department of Welfare. It was moved to The Register building in 1925 and replaced in 1940.

Recover Most Items Stolen At Eldorado

Place Charges Against Three Paducah Men

All items in the June 3 burglary of the Moss Bart Co. at Eldorado, in which goods estimated in value at between $2,500 and $3,000 were taken, have been recovered except for one shotgun, one used auxiliary gasoline tank for an outboard motor and 5,000 fish hooks. Deputy Sheriff James S. Lyon stated today.

Lyon yesterday went to Paducah and brought back two outboard motors, two shotguns and two auxiliary gasoline tanks which were recovered in the investigation of the burglary which has resulted in charges being placed against three Paducah persons.

Lyon also brought back Richard Smith, 40, one of the three, who has admitted being the middle man in the sale of the three outboard motors. He was returned on a warrant charging him with burglary.

Two Brothers Also Held

Vernon Moss of the bait company went with Lyon to Paducah and identified the items which were recovered yesterday.

Previously Sheriff William T. Barrett and Deputy Everett N. Sneed had returned from Paducah with the other outboard motor and 12 guns, some rifles and some shotguns.

Held in Paducah for a grand jury there are Elzie and Joe Byers, brothers at whose place the shotguns were found. There are burglary charges against them here but they also are wanted at Paducah in connection with the burglary of Roy's cafe there.

Deputy Lyon said he had some information that the missing shotgun was given to a half-brother of the Byers boys in payment of a $50 debt Elzie owed the half-brother.

Smith freely admitted to Lyon that he handled the three "hot" outboard motors, but denied having any further part in the burglary.

Sold Motors for $200 Each

He said he was called up by Elzie Byers on June 4, that Byers told him he had some stuff he wanted Smith to handle for him. The Byers brothers, he said, took him out to their place on Oak road, nine miles out of Paducah, and showed him the three outboard motors. He said he got busy and sold them to various people in Paducah.

He said he sold the motors, all new ones, for $200 each. Lyon said that one of them was valued at $611, the other two at $486 each.

Elzie Byers said several days ago that he got a $125 check and $75 cash from Smith as a result of the transactions, that was all he got.

Smith told Lyon he didn't know what happened to the remaining $400. He said that he and a girl friend and another couple went to a place near Brookport and "threw a big drunk." He said when it ended up he was broke.

Smith is a former brother-in-law of the Byers boys and Paducah officers said that Sunday night, when Smith and the two Byers brothers were in jail there, somebody went to Smith's apartment in Paducah and ripped and tore everything in the apartment to pieces.

Two Houses Damaged by Fires

Two vacant houses in the same neighborhood were damaged by fire of unknown origin early this morning.

The fire department was called to one fire at 3:20 a. m., to the other at 4:30 a. m. Fire started in the rear of both buildings.

First call was to 310 South Granger to a house owned by Guy McCormack. There the house was burning in the rear and the fire department laid lines to quench the blaze. The rear of the house and the roof were damaged.

Just as firemen got back to the fire station there was a report of a fire at 220 South Webster street. It was an empty house owned by Atty. Alpheus Gustin. This house also was damaged in the back part and on the roof. A line also was laid to fight this blaze.

Fire Chief L. G. Martin said the cause of the fires had not been determined.

At 12:30 p. m. yesterday a grass fire at 618 West Elm street was extinguished. There was no damage.

Coal Industry, UMW Form Corporation to Purchase Ships, Step Up Exports

WASHINGTON — The coal industry, United Mine Workers, and some railroads today formed a $5-million-dollar corporation to buy their own ships to step up exports of coal.

They said the new corporation, American Coal Shipping Inc., will "enter immediately into the ocean shipping business."

The new organization was announced by Walter J. Tuohy, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, during a lunch meeting of the Coal Exporters' Association of the United States Inc. The lunch was held in conjunction with the 39th anniversary convention of the National Coal Assn.

Davis said nuclear power seems likely to have significant effects on coal demands in the next 20 years only in the field of electric power generation.

Davis said the prospects for producing direct electric energy from coal seems more promising than the prospects of obtaining electric energy directly from nuclear fission.

Economically competitive nuclear power plants probably will not be built in the United States before 1965 or 1970, Davis said. He said the overall reactor development work of the commission is now directed toward military reactors and probably will be for several years.

L. C. Campbell, president of the association, said "captive mines of the power and steel industry" are enjoying many results achieved by the association without contributing anything.

Campbell urged a greater effort in obtaining support and membership from these groups.

Leading Scientists Advise Medical Profession to Limit Use of X-Rays

WASHINGTON — Science warned the American public today that it is using up about one-third of its atomic radiation safety limit in medical and dental x-rays.

The findings of leading U. S. scientists indicated there is no such thing as a "safe" amount of atomic radiation.

The medical profession was called upon to reduce x-rays to the lowest frequency of use consistent with medical necessity.

"Keep the dose as low as you can . . . the potential danger is great," the scientists warned.

That advice comes from leading U. S. scientists who participated in a year-long study sponsored by the National Academy of Sciences of "biological effects of atomic radiation."

But their "initial report," published today recognizes that atomic energy is here to stay. It recognizes that if the world escapes nuclear war, with its threat of possible extinction of the race, it is headed irreversibly into an era of mushrooming atomic power.

So man must learn to live with and control radioactivity of his own making. Balancing the great prospective benefits against the known dangers, the scientists came up with some proposals they believe will give humanity full scope to exploit its new energy source and at the same time survive its hazards and prosper.

As of now, medical and dental x-rays are piling up more troubles for generations yet unborn than are either nuclear weapons tests or nuclear power plants. Genetic scientists particularly deplored use of x-rays for fitting shoes and taking pictures of yet-to-be-born children. They said such applications were dangerous and medically indefensible.

Housebreaker Takes Time to Whip Up Cake

SALEM, Ore. — Police said the burglar who entered the home of Jeanne Hopkins here was untidy as well as hungry. Officers said the prowler took ingredients from a cupboard and the refrigerator and baked a chocolate fudge cake.

The vandal also tore up a strip of linoleum, painted a newspaper with a new can of varnish, opened some mail, and ransacked drawers and closets in the downstairs bedrooms.

The dirty dishes were left in the kitchen.

All that was reported missing was a 10-inch yellow plastic plate. Police surmised the burglar used it to carry away the rest of the cake after he had eaten his fill.

By TIMOTHEUS T.

TIMOTHEUS made a trip into the farthest points of Mountain township the other day to see some rocks. Big rocks. Rock formations of unusual appearance.

Yep, it all was right here in Saline county and I went because I had heard of the place and I had never been there.

In fact, I learned that Southern Illinois, Inc., plans to incorporate the place in its program as a spot to be developed.

It is what has been called Anvil Rock, and of late the Little Garden of the Gods.

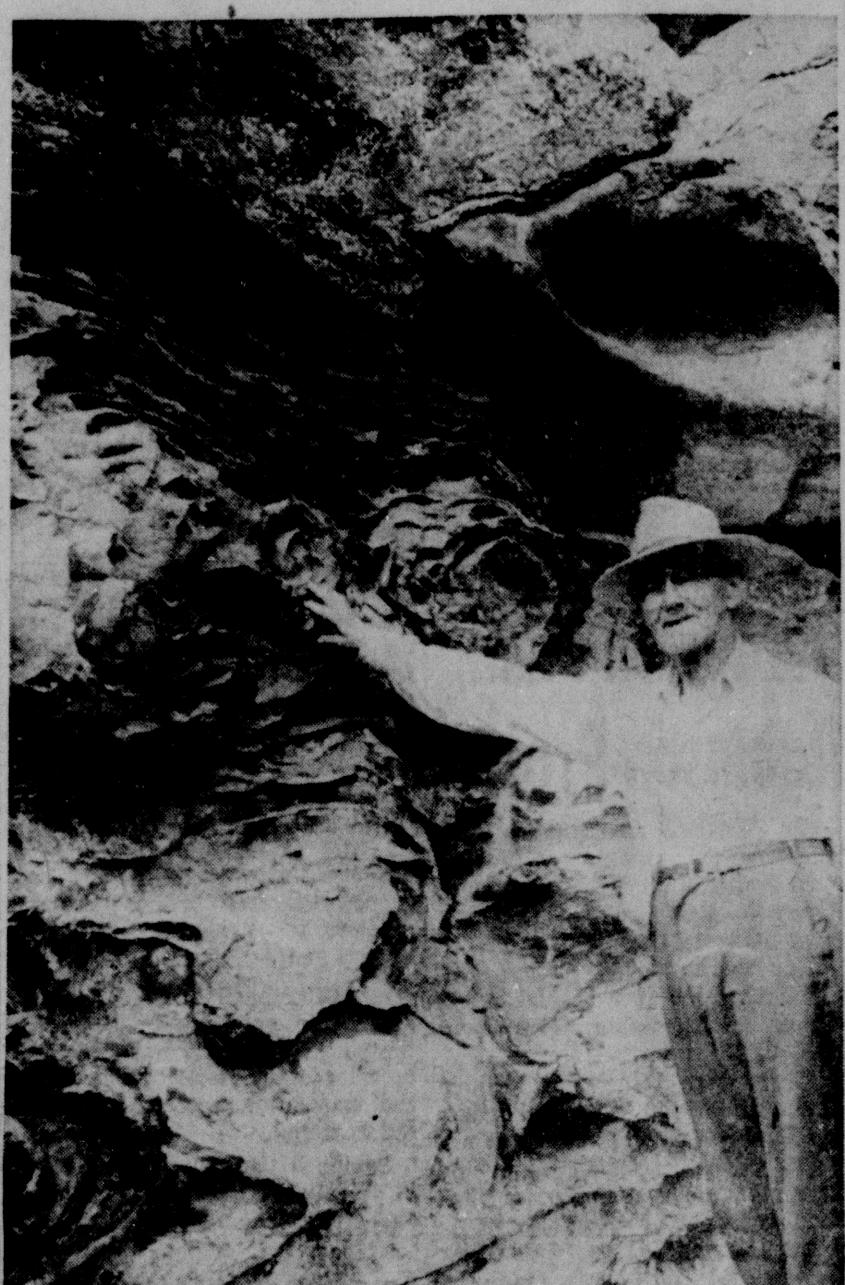

ONE CAN GO down to Equality, through the town and out the bridge and down through Horseshoe; or take Route 24 to Herod and when you approach the store and service station on the left, take the road to the left just before you get to the store and wind back up in a northeasterly direction.

Then follow the gravel road, turning to the right most of the time and the first thing you know you're in the general area.

I had a bit of help finding the place. First I saw Claude Moore, county supervisor from Mountain, driving a tractor down the road. I asked him how to get to the Milas Booten place. Only about

THIS IS THE HUGE ANVIL ROCK, which one sees right away after getting out of the car at the garden spot near the southeastern point of Saline county in Mountain township.

MILAS BOOTEN, a veteran resident of Mountain township who lives a mile and a half away, points to one of the unusual rocks found alongside the Anvil Rock.

SHORT CUT to the other side is this passageway between two rocks in the Little Garden of the Gods.

NEW YORK (UPI) — An Air Force jet pilot and his wife quit a television quiz show Tuesday night while they were ahead with a total of $64,000.

The Constitution leaves open the method of determining when a president is incapacitated and the vice president should take over. Celler's committee has been working on the problem since last summer—before the President's heart attack.

More than 12 million tons of coal were purchased in 1955 for use by steam plants of the Tennessee Valley Authority. This coal came from Alabama, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia.

Peter Freuchen, 70-year-old Danish explorer, sailor and author, apparently won $8,000 with bilingual answers to a three-part question dealing with the "Seven Seas."

Freuchen asked permission to answer part of the question in his native tongue, because he feared he might make a mistake in English. A Danish translator will check a tape recording of Freuchen's answers and the result will be announced next week.

James H. Young, a railroad brakeman of Duluth, Minn., won $4,000 in his "Europeana history" category. He will return next week to try for $8,000.

Youngest Man in Cabinet, Hard Worker Seaton, Doesn't Take Self Too Seriously

By PETER EDSON

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Frederick Andrew Seaton of Hastings, Neb., just made Secretary of the Interior, is not only the newest member of President Eisenhower's Cabinet. At 46 he's also the youngest and a good six years under the previous Cabinet "baby," Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, Jr.

Fred Seaton is also something of a pixie in the Cabinet. He gets a lot of hard work done, but he prides himself on the fact that he doesn't take himself too seriously.

Until he came to Washington Seaton had preferred to work morning newspaperman's hours. That meant leisurely breakfast about noon, then work till 2 a.m. or later.

Since then—under early-riser President Eisenhower—he has been forced to change his work day, but he still works late. On this schedule he consumes gallons of coffee per day. There's always a fresh pot brewing in his office and every conference begins with a cup for his caller and himself.

Part of the Seaton line about not taking things seriously and not liking Washington is that he'd really prefer being back in the Middle West, running his chain of eight daily newspapers, two weeklies, a farm magazine, a TV station and three radio stations.

They're scattered in Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Wyoming and Colorado. He also has a 95-acre farm near Hastings, Neb., which is his headquarters.

Running this assemblage would be enough to keep most people busy. But the seemingly nonchalant Fred turns over to his brother the business founded by their father and takes on a half a dozen other jobs in Washington.

As it is, he ships his family out to Nebraska every summer and they rusticate on the farm while he envies them. His wife, the smart, good-looking Gladys Dowd, was a Kansas farmer's daughter who worked on the Seaton papers. She and Fred met when they were journalism students at Kansas, U.

Their family consists of four adopted children, two boys, two girls, one pair Americans, the other pair German war orphans. They range in age from 8 to 15. There's also a varying menagerie of cats, dogs, ducks, horses and birds.

Seaton has stayed in Washington simply because of his admiration for Dwight D. Eisenhower. He will do anything he can, he says, to help the President.

They first met when Gen. Eisenhower was commander of NATO in Paris and Seaton was a U.S. Senator.

Seaton became an early Ike-for-President man. After the nomination he joined the campaign train as a public relations adviser and situation handler. (The Nixon situation, for instance.) Previously, Seaton had been secretary to Gov. Alf M. Landon when the Kansan ran for the presidency in 1936.

After Eisenhower was elected president, Seaton went back to his Midwest newspapering. But it wasn't long before he was summoned to Washington to see what he could do to improve the Pentagon's balled-up public relations and legislative liaison with Congress.

When a reporter once told Seaton that he wanted to do a story on Secretary Wilson's 11 assistant-secretary "vice presidents" and what they all did, he got the reply, "If you ever find out, let me know."

Seaton came to Washington just in time to handle the row between Sen. Joe McCarthy and

Kansas GOP Names Youthful Elector

WICHITA, Kan. — (UPI) — Kansas, the home state of Dwight D. Eisenhower, may have the nation's youngest Republican presidential elector.

To a post normally reserved for veteran workers in the party, Kansas Republicans have nominated 23-year-old university senior, Dean Scott, of the University of Wichita.

Scott had made a speech to the Young Republican Club of Kansas' largest county, Sedgwick. Having served a year as president of the Kansas Collegiate Young Republicans, he said the GOP leaders should not overlook the enthusiasm, energies and talents of Republican youths in colleges and universities.

That apparently turned the trick for the crew-cut, married student who has studied accounting but who has this fall will return to law courses.

Kansas will have six GOP electors. Republicans in Kansas' most populous fourth congressional district unanimously approved having young Scott's name on the ballot.

The Wichitan is a staunch supporter of Vice President Richard Nixon as well as of President Eisenhower.

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill. — Voters have approved construction and operation of a municipal natural gas system in Pinckneyville.

They voted 772-119 Tuesday in a special election on the question of whether the city should build the system and issue utility certificates to pay for it.

The voters also approved city operation of the plant by a vote of 795-116.

A similar proposal was defeated in 1954 when coal miners opposed it.

The Pinckneyville Chamber of Commerce backed the latest effort to get natural gas in the city. The chamber said the gas system is needed to attract new industry.

Sanity Trial to Open in Pulaski
Circuit Court

MOUND CITY, Ill. — Selection of a jury for a sanity trial of Norman Halliday Jr., accused of murder, will begin Thursday in Pulaski County Circuit Court.

The jury will be asked to determine whether the 33-year-old Cairo resident is sane. If he is declared sane, he will be tried for the murder of Clete Adams of Olmsted last February.

Judge H. L. Zimmerman ordered the trial after defense attorneys failed Tuesday to show reasons why the case should be continued to Oct. 1.

Halliday is accused of being with Alfred Reahm of Cairo when Adams was slain in his tavern at Olmsted. Reahm pleaded guilty to the murder and was sentenced to Menard state penitentiary.

One Killed, 16 Hurt
In Apartment Explosion

CINCINNATI — One person was killed and 16 injured, 2 seriously, in an explosion in a suburban Avondale apartment house Tuesday night.

The dead man was Robert Schwartz, 50, a resident of the building. Police said the body was found near a basement wall where the explosion occurred.

Authorities theorized the cause of the blast was a defective hot water heater in the basement.

AF Funds for Swimming Pools

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Erett P. Scrivner (R-Kan.) — An advocate of the old swimming hole—doesn't see why the Air Force has to spend $5,700,000 on 22 new swimming pools.

Scrivner said that back home in Kansas "if we did not have access to a swimming pool we went down to the creek and made our own slippery slide and had a great time."

"No one told us we were being abused or that our standard of living was low, because we had no pool," he told a recent closed-door hearing before the House Military Appropriations subcommittee.

In the testimony made public today, Scrivner said: "I heard someone mention that some of our airmen over in Africa had to use outdoor toilets and were 'living like animals'."

"I was a fairly good-sized boy before I knew the comforts of an inside toilet and I never thought I lived like an animal."

Brig. Gen. William E. Rentz, from the office of the assistant Air Force chief of staff, said that five million dollars wasn't much in the overall military construction program, and the swimming pools "get the greatest use of any of our recreational facilities."

"I have seen airmen standing in line for two or three hours waiting to get into a swimming pool," Rentz said.

One-third of the oil wells drilled in the United States during 1953 were drilled in Texas.

WCTU President
Blames Drink for Half of Arrests

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI)—Mrs. Glenn G. Hays, president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, said today that arrests for drunkenness and drunken driving have jumped to comprise almost half of all arrests in the nation.

Mrs. Hays said a WCTU analysis of crime reports show that 47 per cent of arrests in 1,477 reporting cities last year were for one of the two charges.

"Most startling revelation of the 1955 statistics is that a greater number of boys and girls under 15 years old are being picked up and booked both for driving while intoxicated or for drunkenness," she said.

The WCTU president blamed liquor advertising on radio and television as the "greatest factor" in the modern alcoholic problem.

District Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle Meeting at Marion June 24

Supreme Forest Woodmen circle members from Southern No. 3 District will hold their convention June 24 at the IOOF hall in Marion. Mrs. Frances Joiner, district president, Golconda, will preside at the meeting.

The convention will open officially at 1:30 p. m. with the registration of delegates. The afternoon program set for 2 p. m. will have greetings from representatives of Marion and state and national Woodmen Circle representatives. Miss Gladys Shamp, state manager, Springfield, will deliver the main address.

The public is invited to the banquet beginning at 6:30 p. m. and the evening program. This will consist of a special drill presented by the representatives of the district's groves and captained by Mrs. Evelyn Gill, district captain, from Marion and musical numbers by members of the society.

Among the distinguished Woodmen Circle officers expected to attend are: Mrs. Pauline Keller, national representative, Carbondale; Mrs. Myrtle Trammell, state president, Marion; Mrs.

Miss Gladys Shamp

Notes from Teen Town

By Joan Seright
Here it is Wednesday again and time for the Teen News.

I have had quite a few kids ask me about the summer hours. Since Teen Town will stay open until 11:30 on Mondays, it will not open until 7:30, the same as on Fridays.

Friday, June 8, Mr. and Mrs.

Marion Grove 133 will serve as hostesses to the 75 delegates expected.

The Woodmen circle, national fraternal society offering membership to women and girls, has a national membership of more than 156 thousand. Since organization 65 years ago, the society has paid more than 75 million dollars in benefits. Assets total nearly 53 million dollars. The Woodmen circle has an active fraternal program for all members including juniors, and

R. C. "Stopper" Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Vergil Ferrell chaperoned.

Monday, June 11, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Martin chaperoned. We certainly appreciate the nice couples who are willing to give up a night to chaperone.

From my inquiries Monday night I found a few going on vacations. Bill Bottomley, Bill Branley and Herb Parks are leaving soon for Wyoming for about three or four weeks.

Judy Franks is leaving on Saturday, June 16, to attend the National Student Council convention at Toledo, Ohio.

We all hope they have a wonderful time.

Remember Dad on Dad's Day.

BIBLICAL THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Noah was a just man and perfect in his generations. And Noah walked with God. Genesis 6:9.

The Sumerians who preceded Babylon in time handed down the story of the flood, and they reached pre-flood dynasties as well as post-flood dynasties. Abraham brought a wealth of history and legends from Ur of the Chaldees. There always have been some good men. Abraham may have brought the story of Job to the west.

The Business Outlook*Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

It is never wise to belittle declines in any major sector of the nation's economy. But by the same token it is not sensible to exaggerate these as being general when they are not.

Right now sharp dips are occurring in automobile and farm equipment. Production actually is running below levels of 1954 when we put the label "recession" on the downward economic swing.

Especially broad effects are bound to be felt in the general economy from the fall-off in car output. But even if this were not so we should feel concern over these soft spots. Unemployment is not made more palatable because it is limited to particular fields. For those involved, it is a crisis. And we must attend to every such development whether large or small.

Nevertheless, a wide look at today's business conditions indicates that output generally is at considerably higher levels than during the 1953-54 drop.

In a recent review, the New York Times noted that what the economists call the "gross national product," the total of all goods and services, stood at nearly 400 billion dollars annually as of this March 31. Two years ago it ranged just above 350 billion.

The Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production this April rested at 143 per cent of the 1947-49 average. The June, 1954, mark was 124.

Business spending for new plant and personal spending are both markedly higher in 1956 than in comparable periods two years ago. And manufacturers' new orders, always a measure of business confidence, ran 27.4 billion dollars this April against 22.8 billion in June, 1954.

There are still other figures: Employment is higher, unemployment is lower, savings are higher and average pay checks are higher.

Put the pieces together and you get a basically cheerful pattern of American economic activity. The country is busy. We are moving along on high ground.

Again, that doesn't mean we should play down the soft spots—the sag in motors and farm machinery, the heralded slide in farm income, the bulge in consumer debt.

But, though there is uncertainty there is no need yet to dust off the gloomy labels. The politicians may try it, but if they do they'll be pressing. The facts of the economic outlook contradict them.

Killed When Walls of Sewer Excavation Cave In

GLENCOE, Ill. (UPI)—Edward Peppin, 32, Chicago, was killed Tuesday when the walls of a sewer excavation 14 feet deep collapsed on him as he worked.

The cave-in occurred at a construction site in Strawberry Hill, a suburb of Glencoe. Firemen and police worked together to recover his body.

Traffic Gets the Bird

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—A truck loaded with about 2,400 chickens rammed a bridge railing Tuesday, tying up traffic for almost 40 minutes while driver J. G. Lindsey and helpful motorists chased the squawking birds.

DREW PEARSON
on
The WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND

DREW PEARSON Says:
Mamie Eisenhower Was The Person Who Suffered Most;
Her Life Has Been Full Of Joy But Full Of Loneliness;
She Did Not Want Ike To Run Again.

WASHINGTON.—The birds wake early in the trees outside Walter Reed hospital . . . happy birds, twittering birds, nothing to worry about, not even worried that a great man lay a few feet from the branches in which they roosted . . . It's cool and quiet in the trees around the hospital—quiet except for the birds—but Mamie Eisenhower couldn't sleep, didn't want to sleep . . . she envied the birds . . . she had time to look back over long vistas of life with a man who twice in the past six months had been quite ill . . . full of joy and full of loneliness . . . An Army wife has to be lonesome. She knows, as few people know, what it means to have wars, maneuvers, preparations for war, more war—endless successes of transfers and crises, crises and transfers, new posts, new friends, new canasta partners, new servants—if you're lucky enough to afford or find a servant—new schools for John.

Mamie Eisenhower looked back on those years . . . she could almost see some of those Army camps among the trees outside the hospital. She could see those rows of officers' homes, all the same, all built for efficiency and economy, not for beauty, all built by a Congress which was always balancing the budget, never worried about Army wives . . . pleasant people at Army posts . . . but never a home of your own.

A MAJOR IN WASHINGTON

She could look back a long way . . . Washington was pleasant in the Hoover administration. Ike was a major then, not much of a salary—only about $3,000 a year. And it seemed as if he would never get promoted. But the dollar went farther then . . . He had an office on the edge of Doug MacArthur's chief of staff headquarters in the old State, War and Navy building, that ugly old mausoleum which housed most of the War Department and all of the State Department then. Today her husband's White House staff has taken over the whole mausoleum . . . How times have changed! . . . And the State Department has three or four buildings to itself now, while the military services have the biggest office building in the world . . . Those were happy days, uncomplicated days, even if Ike hadn't been promoted for years . . . Then came the Philippines. MacArthur became commander of the new Philippine army and Ike went with him to help organize it. Glamorous days, different days, easy housekeeping days, languid tropic days.

Nevertheless, a wide look at today's business conditions indicates that output generally is at considerably higher levels than during the 1953-54 drop.

In a recent review, the New York Times noted that what the economists call the "gross national product," the total of all goods and services, stood at nearly 400 billion dollars annually as of this March 31. Two years ago it ranged just above 350 billion.

Jury Begins Studying Caudle, Connelly Fate

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — A Federal Court jury of rural Missourians today began deliberating the fate of Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle, accused of conspiracy to defraud the government in a tax case.

Federal Judge Rubey M. Hulen turned the case over to the jury of eight men and four women at 10:22 a.m. CST after a hearing that lasted nearly six weeks.

Hulen told the jury it could free or convict either or both of the two high Truman administration officials of the charges.

He said the handling of the tax evasion case against Irving Sachs, out of which the indictment grew, "is the only issue" and collateral matters should be considered only as to their bearings upon it.

The jurors, Hulen said, should draw no unfavorable inferences from the fact that the Justice Department's policy regarding health matters was changed after the Sachs indictment in 1951.

Hulen told the jurors they were the exclusive judges of the evidence and the credibility of the witnesses in the marathon trial.

The court made no comment on any of the evidence.

Caudle and Connelly are charged with conspiring with Harry I. Schwimmer, an attorney, to allow Sachs, an epileptic, to escape criminal trial.

din which sounds something like a wornout bearing in an auto engine. To some people the noise is maddening. To others, it is a fascinating sound heard only a few times in a lifetime. It's caused by male cicadas vibrating the undersurfaces of their abdomens as sort of a mating call to the females.

The experts predict the sound and the cicadas will vanish in about six weeks for another 17 years once the eggs are laid.

Youth Drowns

AURORA (UPI) — Mebie Nanninga, 14, drowned in the Fox river Tuesday despite rescue efforts of two policemen who dove into the water.

The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nanninga Sr., Aurora.

CHICAGO (UPI) — A plague of droming, swarming insects buzzed about the heads of residents in parts of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin today.

This is the year of the 17-year locust for northern Illinois, Indiana and southern Wisconsin. On the Mississippi River, Keokuk, Iowa, was plagued by clouds of tiny "river bugs" or caddis flies.

Entomologists say the 17-year locusts are not actually locusts, although similar in appearance to the grasshopper-type insect. The insects, which appeared out of the ground about a week ago, are properly known as periodical cicadas, the experts said.

Cicadas in some sections are so thick they almost cover the bark of trees on which they lay their eggs. At Williams Bay, Wis., State Entomologist E. L. Chambers said, "You can't put a finger down without touching one."

A heavy infestation of the insects in treetops causes a whirring

Fall Drifter

By W. Edmunds Claussen

Cap. 1956 by W. Edmunds Claussen. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY. Frank Ude has learned that Jean Cash is owner of a horse spread known as the Rafter C. She offers Frank a job on the ranch, but Frank owes allegiance to her brother, Emmett, with whom she is not on good terms. Besides, Frank does not trust women. • • •

X

The bartender was pock-marked, with russet-colored hair, and eager enquiring eyes that had not missed Lily's welcome. When he had finished with his study Frank asked, "Steve Norring?"

"My partner," the bartender acknowledged. "I'm Jack Bamfort. You'll find Mr. Norring at his bank."

The peculiar intonation of respect, almost of reverence, in the word "mister" arched Frank's eyebrows. He gave no other sign of recognition of Bamfort's saluting but he knew now what he had sensed about Norring's importance was starting to bear out. Bamfort was still watching him curiously when the man on his left asked:

"You looking for somebody?" Frank shook his head. Their curiosity was starting to pull out of hand. This crowd would never let him out of the Alhambra without testing him. But their hostility had put one question to rest in his mind: Norring's faction was not working with Emmett. Several factions were here in Castron poised to strike at each other's throat. The saloonman took his bottle, returning it to the backbar. His eyes flicked to the man beside Frank.

"Milo, you better let him alone." The man the bartender spoke to was grinning. He was a big man with great shoulders and a scar across his forehead.

There was a tone to the saloonman's voice that Frank considered false. He was leading Milo on. They were building this up, trying to trap him into a fight.

Frank said testily, "Who would I be looking for?"

Milo let his glance shift in a swift movement toward Bamfort that telegraphed its message to Frank. These two knew about Yates. But did they know where Yates was hidden?

"How would I know what you're hunting for?" Milo growled.

"You're too curious," Frank said. "Your nose might get caught in a trap."

Milo's wickedly harsh words caught him abruptly: You're taking up too much counter space!" From the corner of his eye he saw Milo's gun flashing downward. The next instant terrific pain telegraphed itself to his brain.

Frank thought the fingers of his left hand were broken. • • •

With the numbing paralysis of shock still clutching him he was vaguely aware of Milo sneaking after the gun in his belt. He acted without direct thought, smashing his shoulder upward into Milo's face and shoving backward away from the bar.

Still shuddering from Milo's punishment he wheeled, facing the man squarely. Milo's head was still bent backward from his crack on the jaw when Frank hurled his glass. It caught the man directly in the eye. He let loose a howl of rage, and then Frank leaped. His left hand was useless, the pain cascading up his arm in waves, his fingers paralyzed. The peculiar intuition came to him that this was one of the men that had RAIDED them on the McHenry trail. Perhaps it had been Milo's bullet that had killed Rambant.

Milo faded back under his advance, fear for the first time in his face. He took a wild swing at Frank that missed, and while he was still off balance Frank brought his knee sharply into the heavy belly. While the air was still escaping in a grunt Frank hit him in the face. Milo's head snapped back. Frank's fist came away smeared with blood and Milo's nose spouted red. Again Milo swung at him, this time knocking Frank against the bar. Frank's hand was still useless at his side and once when Milo brushed it the pain blinded him. With his good hand he reached Milo's sweat-dampened hair, drawing his head violently downward. Now with the elbow of his bad hand he raked a swabbing blow across Milo's face. Then, just as quickly, he let go Milo's hair. His right fist pulled back and shot forward with telling power, connecting under Milo's chin. The man went down as though pulled and lay in an ugly posture. Frank drew a deep breath. • • •

Now when his gaze struck Bamfort he caught the incredulity on the saloonman's face. Evidently Milo had a reputation as considerable of a fighter, and the fact Frank was still on his feet was a surprise.

"Something else eating you?" Frank asked Bamfort.

The saloonman's eyes lidded down closer. He didn't want to have the fight continue, or hadn't been ready for the outcome of the bout with Milo. He said, "I told Milo Hackett to let you alone."

Sure, you did. Frank reflected; but you had it rigged to stomp me after Milo knocked me down.

"When Hackett comes to tell him to stay out of my sight. I don't

Life's Tempo Does Not Affect Life Span

CHICAGO (UPI)—The tempo at which we live probably has no effect on how long we live, two physiologists said here.

They said age has little effect on the response to stress, and chronological age is practically meaningless.

The physiologists, Dr. Steven Horvath of the University of Iowa and Dr. Dwight Ingles of the University of Chicago, addressed a meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Manufacturers' Association.

"Aging is not caused by endocrine failures," Dr. Ingles said. "Aging is a perfectly natural process, and the speed at which we live has no effect on the speed of aging."

Dr. Horvath said there is an "unknown factor" involved in the speed or slowness at which we age.

"A person of 80 may have the body of 40, and vice versa," he said. "Heredity and the ability to adapt to stress and strain are involved in this process."

He said how long a person lives depends on where in the body the aging takes place. He pointed out that life expectancy is more affected by degeneration of the heart than by graying hair.

Thinking It Over

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois
Wednesday, June 13, 1956

Page Nine

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

A recent survey of industrial workers indicates three out of four workers who rated high in religious belief were on the list of employees rated by their associates as "well adjusted." In contrast to this evidence was the fact that most of the workers who had records of employment problems and high accident rates were low in religious practice and belief.

Many studies are presently being made of human satisfactions in the home, in the community and at work. These studies bear out the fact that belief in God and daily worship go hand in hand with high level self-satisfactions.

Religion is being related to daily living. People no longer pray only when they are in trouble. They now take time to thank God for their job and for being able to make the monthly mortgage payments.

People have been known to thank God for television sets and washing machines as well as for health, home and family. Many a person thanks God for his daily food in contrast to the relatively few who used to mumble a memorized "Grace" before meals.

We are not ashamed to admit to our fellow workers and to our neighbors that we believe in God and that He is making life more satisfying.

Yankees Defeat White Sox, 4-2; Pirates Regain First; Dodgers Trip Cards, 8-6

By United Press

The Chicago White Sox escaped the humiliation of a no-hitter, but they'll never win the American League pennant until they do something about Whitey Ford.

That much was clear today in the wake of Ford's four-hit, 4-2, victory over the White Sox at Yankee Stadium Tuesday night — the Yankees' sixth win in six meetings with the Sox this year and Ford's 16th triumph against only three to them during his career.

The cocky, pint-sized lefty, who now has beaten Chicago three times this season, had the Sox hitless until Nellie Fox opened the seventh inning with a slow bouncer through the middle. With the pressure off, Ford allowed two runs in that frame before taking hold again to save the victory.

Ford's win boosted the Yankee's American League lead to 4 1/2 games over the second-place Cleveland Indians, who dropped a 9-7 slugfest to Boston, and five games over Chicago.

Berra and Carey

Yogi Berra singled home a Yankee run in the first inning and Andy Carey's two-run homer in the second made it 3-0. Carey singled home another tally in the sixth to offset Chicago's seventh-inning runs singled across by Sherman Lollar and Walt Dropo.

Cleveland had a 5-4 lead over Boston after six innings on a two-run homer by Vic Wertz and a three-run blast by Al Rosen. But Boston teed off for five runs in the seventh inning, including three on Ted Lepcio's homer, to clinch the win.

The see-saw National League race saw the Pittsburgh Pirates regain first place with a 4-3 victory over Cincinnati, which dropped in to second place, a half-game behind. Cincinnati scored three runs in the first inning with Gus Bell's triple the key blow, but Jack Shepard and Boo Clemente each tagged Joe Nuxhall for two-run homers in the fifth inning to give the Pirates a lead that relievers Roy Face and Nelson King preserved the rest of the way.

Dodgers Dump Cards

The oncoming Brooklyn Dodgers took third place away from the St. Louis Cardinals with a 6-4 victory. Duke Snider's 14th homer, his third in two games, led Brooklyn at bat while Bobby Morgan and Ken Boyer hit Card homers. Carl Erskine was the winner in relief.

In other National League games, the Philadelphia Phillies handed the Milwaukee Braves their 10th loss in the last 13 games, 5-2, with a five-run fifth inning rally that included Willie Jones' two-run homer, and Monte Irvin drove in four runs with a homer and a double to give the Chicago Cubs an 8-5 win over his old New York Giant teammates.

Under the Washington lights, Kansas City won the longest game of the year — four hours, 42 minutes — by scoring six runs in the 15th inning to down Washington, 9-3. Harry Simpson, who had homered in the 12th inning in vain, tripped with the bags loaded in the 15th. The time of game was only 16 minutes short of the American league record.

Billy Hoeft of the Detroit Tigers gained his seventh win with a seven-hitter as the Tigers took advantage of 13 hits and five errors to beat Baltimore, 8-1.

Gophers, Arizona Tangle Tonight In Baseball Tourney

OMAHA — Arizona will take another crack at Minnesota tonight in their fight for the national collegiate baseball championship.

The Wildcats from Tucson came out on the short end of a 3-1 score when the two teams clashed in the second round of the NCAA college world series Sunday.

Minnesota goes into tonight's contest without a loss, while Arizona has only the defeat by the Gophers on its record in the double elimination tourney.

The Gophers and the Cats both looked tough Tuesday as they earned their tickets to tonight's final. Minnesota's Rod Oistad struck out 13 Bradley Braves as the Gophers put the Peoria, Ill., team out of the tourney in an 8-3 game. Arizona eliminated Mississippi, 7-3.

Minnesota and Arizona are each blessed with effective moundmen. It looks as if 6-foot 5-inch Carl Thomas, a Minneapolis boy enrolled at Arizona, will oppose either Jerry Thomas or Ron Craven tonight.

Jerry beat Carl in a battle of Thomas Sunday. The Minnesotans held the Wildcats to three hits, while Carl Thomas allowed only five. Craven tossed a two-hitter against Wyoming in his only tournament appearance.

WSIL to Telecast Hamia-Berrios Fight

Baby-faced Cherif Hamia will hazard his 11-bout winning streak in a nationally televised 10-round fight against stocky Miguel Berrios at Madison Square Garden in New York Friday night, with the winner expecting a title shot at featherweight champion Sandy Saddler.

Berrios, 24, a Puerto Rican now living in New York, has won 15 of 20 bouts with two knockouts in his last three starts.

Hamia, 25, now living in Paris, is a Moslem from Algeria. He has compiled 25 wins in 27 starts, marred only by one loss and one draw.

The NBC nationally televised contest will be telecast by station WSIL beginning at 8 p.m. Friday.

FIRM GRIP—Pitching has made the Pittsburgh Pirates the surprise of 1956, and three handcuff kings show how they start trouble for the opposition. They are, left to right, Ron Kline, Bob Friend and Elroy Face. The Buccaneers have another good one in Vern Law.

Sugar Creek, Social Brethren and Pirates Win Kiwanis League Tilts

By David Nelson

Sugar Creek Produce defeated Pankey's Bakery, 18-4; the Social Brethren church team downed Dairy Brand, 16-7, and the Pirates massacred the Reds, 24-0, in Kiwanis league games Tuesday.

Bobby Joe Karnes hurled a two-hitter to lead Sugar Creek to an 18-4 victory over Pankey's. Both hits and three of the losers' runs came in the fourth when Stunson blasted a three-run homer. Pankey also picked up a run in the seventh. Gibbons pitched for Pankey's, giving up 18 runs, three in the first, one in the second, four in the third, two in the fourth and four each in the sixth and seventh, on 15 hits. Wilson led the Sugar Creek team at bat with two singles, a double and a home run. Also getting safe blows for the winners were Wiley with three, Shelton with two, and Mugge, Cushman, Karnes, Fields, Warneke and Stilley with one each. Stunson homered and Wunderlich singled for Pankey's.

Social Brethren led all the way as it downed Dairy Brand, scoring three runs in the first, five in the second, three in the fourth, two in the fifth and three in the seventh. Dairy Brand scored all seven runs and got four of their five hits in the fifth. For the winners Agin led with a homer and two singles, Oglesby had a triple and two singles, Cartett and Hagan had two hits apiece and Asbell, R. Pickering and Broccarino singled once to round out their 13-hit attack. Patton and Turner homered and Hicks, Jahn and Abney singled for Dairy Brand. Agin pitched for Social Brethren with Griffith on the hill for the losers.

Stanley pitched a two-hitter and hit three home runs and a single as he led the Pirates to a 24-0 win over the Reds. Stanley struck out 16 batters in the six-inning contest while walking only three. Thirteen of the Pirates' runs came in the third when Morgan, Stanley and Vick hit consecutive home runs. For the winners at bat Stanley had three home runs and a single, Morgan had a home run and three singles, Vick homered and singled, Karsten had two singles and Smith picked up one safe blow. Morse and Beabout had the only hits for the Reds. Morse was the losing pitcher.

X-Rays May Indicate When Floyd Patterson Can Meet Archie Moore

NEW YORK — New x-rays today may indicate when Floyd Patterson could start training for the proposed world heavyweight title fight with Archie Moore at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 18.

The x-rays of a fourth-bone fracture in young Floyd's right hand were to be taken at St. Clare's Hospital. He suffered the injury last Friday night while beating Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson at Madison Square Garden.

A favorable report would delight Promoter Jim Norris, who has started negotiating for the 15-rounder he expects to draw at least $500,000 in addition to receipts from theatre-TV and movies.

Drag Racing Set For August 22-26 At Lawrenceville

The third annual World Series of Drag Racing, the nation's top hot rodding event of the year, has been set for Aug. 22-26 at Lawrenceville.

This was announced by the Automobile Timing Association of America, Inc. (ATAA), sponsor of the event.

More than 1,000 hot rodders from coast to coast are expected to compete for top awards in speed, engineering and styling.

Stock cars will participate in separate events, but motor-cycles will not run this year.

Classy-looking, yet tough and durable.
He'll be proud of his set!

Miss Judy Morse, sophomore at the University of Illinois, has accepted employment as counsellor at Camp of the Fair Winds, a Girl Scout camp at Flint, Mich., and will be there until the last of August.

Topics were presented by Mrs. Calvin Sutton, Mrs. Ronnie Ziegler, Mrs. George Aud, Mrs. Arthur Hinant, Miss Barbara Fearheiley and Mrs. Henry Hancock.

Mrs. Hancock closed with prayer.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.
